Client Rights and Responsibilities

As my client you have the right to:

- ❖ A safe clinical environment.
- ❖ Be treated with respect regardless of race, disability, age, gender, sexual orientation, sex, religion or national origin.
- ❖ Accurate, non-judgmental sex information.
- ❖ Strict confidentiality. Everything that is discussed in your sessions will remain confidential, even if some portions of information appear trivial, irrelevant or not to require confidentiality. Even the existence of an educational or counseling relationship is confidential.

Your confidential information will only be released under three strict circumstances:

- 1) Upon your written approval. Written approval must indicate: your name and the date on which consent is given; the type and nature of information to be released; the purpose for which the information will be used; designation of the source that will receive the information; and that consent is given voluntarily and with competency.
- 2) When there is clear and imminent danger of non-consensual bodily harm or to the life or safety of you or another person disclosure will be made in accordance to law.
- 3) When applicable law declares that such information may be released.

- ❖ I will obtain your written informed consent for using any identifiable information about you for purposes of education, training, research or publication.
- ❖ I will keep your complete records for no less than three (3) years after completion of the last date of services. A summary of your records will be kept for an additional twelve (10) years. After this time period expires, all records will be destroyed.

As my client you are responsible for:

- ❖ Being open and honest about your sexual behavior and in evaluating your sexual attitudes.
- ❖ Completing all homework assignments.
- ❖ Arriving for appointments on time.
- ❖ Submitting payment at the time of services.

Payment is expected at the time of services. I accept cash and checks. I do not bill insurance. Cancellations must be made at least 24 hours in advance, if made within 24 hours of appointment, client is responsible for full payment of missed appointment.

I have read and agree with Martina Fausch’s Client Rights and Responsibilities. I hereby release Martina Fausch for any damages that may result from sex counseling and education.
